STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, APRIL 21, 1905.

NO. 15.

Cold Weather In 1834.

Most of us older people will remember Uncle Tommy Tuggle, deceased, father of Jerry and Henry Tuggle, and grandfather of Capt. Wm. Sloan, and the following statements bring him afresh in our minds:

Capt. William Sloan and J. A. (Dean) Tompkins, Esq., handed us a time-worn slip of paper on which was written, by Uncle Johnny's own hand, verbatim: "May 14, 15 and 16, 1834, there is a hard frost and ice one-half an inch thick." These lines were evidently written by Uncle Johnny at that time and placed between the lids of his family Bible, where they have remained since, and will be kept there by his succeeding generations, probably for many years to come, as it is kept and cherished as an heirloom.

On that occasion Tommy Scott had 100 cattle to die on the Cumberland mountain from eating buds and leaves killed by frost. Corn was bit to the top of the ground and corn went up to $1 per bushel on the mountain.—Albany Gleaner. Handed us by Mr. J. C. Hays.

Memorial of Garland James.

Uncle "Garl" is gone, oh how we miss him!

How we miss his vacant chair,
How we miss his dear old presence
And we miss him everywhere.

There hangs his cane his brother gave him,

Now about two years ago
And it will hang as a family relic
And his pleasures and his love.

Weep not children, weep not for him,
For your loss is his gain.
Of that crown for which he labored
For which he labored not in vain.

In our mind's eye we can see him
At the place that he did love
Which was the place of public worship
In the church of Pine Grove.

His aim was not for fame or fortune,
Only this he inward craved,
Sweet assurance, long endurance
And a home beyond the grave.

School at Lawson's school house has been dismissed on account of sickness, the teacher, Miss Maud Spainhower, and her mother both being sick. Dr. W. J. Edmiston, of Crab Orchard, was called to the bedside of Mrs. Wm. Pointer Sunday. Miss Willie Corniney and Mrs. W. H. Furr visited Mrs. John McCarty, at Rowland.

This is to be an awful year according to a wild-eyed Pennsylvania prophet who has just issued his bulletin of prophecies for 1905. He says the big spot that has appeared upon the sun is ominous, it foretells rebellion, pestilence and natural catastrophes upon the earth. The outbreak in Russia is but a spark that will be fanned into a flame that will sweep the whole world. The end of the world, he predicts, comes in 1908.—Somerset Journal.

The Powers That Be.

Let the eyes of the stars
And the face of the moon
On my fetters and bars
Freely look and commune.

Let the scent of the grass
And the breath of the rose
In their wanderings pass
With a balm for my woes!

Let the birds come and rest
In the sound of my sighs,
Let them twitter and nest
In the sight of my eyes.

But for man, I will none
Of his sermons and creeds,
For his dogmas alone
Put a ban on my deeds.

He would shackle my soul,
Make me bow at his throne,
Read a narrow writ scroll
That I never shall own.

I will lean to the earth,
To the mountains and sea,
To the source of my birth,
And the powers that be.

I will lay my heart bare
As the breast of a brook.
I was shaped by their care—
Let them ponder and look!

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Best and Most Popular.

"Mothers by it for croupy children, railroad men buy it for severe coughs and elderly people buy it for lagrippe," say Moore Bros., Eldon, Iowa. "We sell more of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than any other kind. It seems to have taken the lead over several other good brands." There is no question but this medicine is the best that can be procured for coughs and colds, whether it be a child or an adult that is afflicted. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard.

Higgins—My wife says if I should die she would remain a widow until death. Of course, she might change her mind, but it is sort of consoling, just the same.

Jinks—Evidently your wife thinks there is no other man in the world like you.

Higgins—On the contrary, she's afraid there is, and that she'd get him.—Boston Transcript.

Bub—You talk about table manners; I don't believe you even know what a napkin is.

Sis—Yes, I do. It's a little sleep after eating.

Bub—Who told you that?

Sis—I guessed it; my own self. "Manikin" is a little man, you know, "so napkin" must be a little nap.—Boston Transcript.

Cheated Death.

Kidney trouble often ends fatally, but by choosing the right medicine, Mr. E. H. Wolfe, of Bear Grove, Ia., cheated death. He says: "Two years ago I had Kidney Trouble, which caused me great pain, suffering and anxiety, but I took Electric Bitters, which effected a complete cure. I have also found them of great benefit in general debility and nerve trouble and keep them constantly on hand, since I find they have no equal." G. L. Penny, Stanford, and Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard, druggists, guarantee them at 50 cents.

JUDGE W. R. CARSON.

Judge W. R. Carson, known by almost every man, woman and child in this county, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. Porter Staggs, in Fayette county, Wednesday evening at 7:30, aged 78. The judge had been a resident of Stanford for many years until he removed to Fayette a year ago. He was in feeble health when he left and many of his friends predicted that they would not see him alive again. He became stronger after a short sojourn with his daughter, however, and until the illness that caused his death came, he suffered very little. Judge Carson was magistrate and police judge for 38 years, both of which offices he filled with credit. For years he did a saddlery and harness business here and was reasonably successful in it. He was an unusually well posted man on current events and a great reader. He loved Stanford and in his palmier days he did much for its advancement. A trustee of Stanford Female College, he worked hard for its furtherance. In fact he took great interest in educational institutions and was always for that which would redound to the upbuilding of his home town and the uplifting of his people. Judge Carson married Miss Permelia Dodd, who preceded him to the grave 23 years. He is survived by five children, Mesdames A. A. Warren, of Middlesboro, J. E. Portman, of this place, S. P. Staggs, of Fayette, Mr. James T. Carson, of Louisville, and Charles C. Carson of Liberty, and in their loss of a kind and indulgent father they have much sympathy. The remains were brought here last night and at 10:30 this morning they will be interred in Buffalo cemetery. Rev. P. J. Ross will pray and make a few remarks at the grave.

MATRIMONIAL.

J. E. Jones, a widower, of 46, and Miss Margaret Stephenson were married on the 19th.

About Rheumatism.

There are few diseases that inflict more torture than rheumatism and there is probably no disease for which such a varied and useless lot of remedies have been suggested. To say that it can be cured is, therefore, a bold statement to make, but Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which enjoys an extensive sale, has met with great success in the treatment of this disease. One application of Pain Balm will relieve the pain, and hundreds of sufferers have testified to permanent cures by its use. Why suffer when Pain Balm affords such quick relief and costs but a trifle? For sale by Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard.

In the Hargis trial at Lexington Mose Feltner again detailed the alleged plots to take the life of Cockrill, while Dan Bush, a new witness, said that Hargis asked him to assist in the murder of Cockrill. Bush is serving a term in the penitentiary for horse-stealing. W. W. Vaughn, a former attorney of Jackson, but now of Oklahoma, also gave damaging testimony against Hargis.

For a Weak Digestion.

No medicine can replace food but Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will help you to digest your food. It is not the quantity of food taken that gives strength and vigor to the system, but the amount digested and assimilated. If troubled with a weak digestion, don't fail to give these Tablets a trial. Thousands have been benefitted by their use. They only cost a quarter. For sale by Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard.
